

TRINITY SUNDAY – FATHER’S DAY

Jesus spent his life doing the Father’s will. His relationship with His Father was vital for Him; nothing that happened in his life was out of the Father’s plan of salvation.

The Holy Trinity is centered on the Father. He is the origin and the fulfillment of all creation and so of each one of us.

This brings us to a reflection of Father’s Day. Fatherhood is fundamental in our life as human beings. Certainly we are in the womb of our mothers for nine months before we come to light, but the spark of life comes from our father. The father figure is vital in the harmonious growth of any child. The Father is a necessary figure in the psychological and emotional growth of both sons and daughters. The Father is the head of the house and the protector of life and harmony.

If the mother is the foundation, the father is the roof of the house. Certainly the roof cannot exist without the foundation, but if the roof does not protect the foundation, it rots and disintegrates. Both are equally necessary and important.

But today let us consider the importance of the calling for fatherhood. It is not enough to generate a child in order to be a father. Father is a spiritual calling to responsibility, courage, protection, stability and tough love. Father is a mission, especially when we talk about the human formation of the young. I was at the airport the other day and I was admiring a young father sitting on the floor with his little daughter sleeping on his lap. What a great image of a father, that becomes a pillow for his little daughter to sleep.

The house becomes a “school of humanity” when the father takes his own role, both with his wife and children. Where are the children to learn generosity, courage, security and discipline? It is not easy at times to combine severity with the tenderness that children need to grow happily.

This feast of the Holy Trinity is pointing to the great role of the father in the family, in community and in society. The church puts a lot of importance in this role/mission of fatherhood. For many years we have listened to the “feminist movement” and to the “rights of women”, but maybe we have forgotten the role of the father. Let us rediscover the vocation (calling) for each man to be a real “father” in the family and in the Church.
