

THE RESURRECTION in our Parish.

As Mary Magdalene and the disciples, the Easter Sunday morning were surprised to see the risen Lord. At first, they did not recognize Him, but then they learned how to see Him in faith.

As we, the Fathers and staff, wish you the blessings of Easter, we like to look at the signs of resurrection in our community.

I see signs of resurrection on the young families who come to prepare for the Baptism of their children. We have prepared a special program, where we lead both parents and godparents to a renewal of their own Baptism, Eucharist, Reconciliation and Confirmation; actually, we repeat these sacraments for them, and the result is very personal and deep. Many parents are appreciative and willing to participate with a greater sense of faith.

I see signs of resurrection in the whole Catechism Program. The great change this year is the participation of the parents in the spiritual formation of their children. The catechists now are working with the parents, who are in charge of transmitting their faith to their children. This has created a much deeper bond between parents and their children. Actually, it has become a "family" faith journey. We were very impressed by the participation of the whole family in the preparation of their children's First Holy Communion.

I see signs of resurrection in the youth of our parish. I see young people in silence in front of the Blessed Sacrament praying and going to confession. I see young people participating in discussions about the virtue of purity. I see young people ready to coach younger children in the first steps of their faith. I see the resurrection in their lives.

Jesus is present also among the young couples preparing for the sacrament of Marriage. Pre-Cana has become an experience of God's love. Between the celebrations, the small groups discussion and the dialogue between the couples, the Pre-Cana has become alive and full of faith. We are presenting the real love of Christ for the family today, even when the world is pushing for a vision of life which is totally contrary to the Gospel.

I see the resurrection on the adults who follow the RCIA program, where through videos and discussions we are making the faith a real experience, more than just an instruction of the faith.

I see the resurrection of Jesus in the little "children's Rosary Group" who gather every first Saturday to pray the rosary together. I see Jesus' resurrection in the great number of people who have started the "Faith Study" program (CCO) and are preparing to become real "disciples" of Jesus. I see Jesus in the Seniors who are reorganizing, after the scare of the Covid. I see Jesus in so many volunteers in hospitality, who are at the door of the church every Sunday to welcome our parishioners to church. I see the resurrection in many young Altar Servers, new young Lectors and Eucharistic Ministers. I see many signs of resurrection in our Filipino and Spanish communities. There is life, there is joy, there is hope. This is what I see on Resurrection Sunday in our parish. May the resurrected Christ bless you and your families.

SCALABRINI THE FOUNDER

Within ourselves, in the deepest recesses of our human nature, we feel as if the unity of a primordial harmony has been shattered, and a war is being waged inside us: the ceaseless war of nature against grace, of evil inclinations against reason, of the senses against faith, of the flesh against the spirit. J.B. Scalabrini Pastoral Letter on Penance - 1895
